YOUNG MAN KILLED BY SHIFTER LAST NIGHT IN CHARLOTTE

S. A. L. Engine Ran Over Gus Baumgart-
ner, Cutting Body in Twain.

Charlotte, Aug. 4.—One of the most gruesome accidents in many years occurred last night at 9 o'clock when a shifting engine of the Seaboard Air Line Railway ran over and killed Gus Baumgartner, a young man apparently about 27 years of age, a weaver in the employ of the Louise mill.

The accident occurred between the Seaboard passenger station and North Church street. There were no witnesses. The engine, No. 572, was proceeding in a southwesterly direction. It was backing and pulling a train of freight cars. Perhaps the young man in self-defense or otherwise, attempted to board the tender at the front and slipped between the running-board and the body of the tender. His body was cut entirely in twain just above the heart, and his left arm was severed. It was not until the upper portion had rolled clear of the wheels and to the south side of the track that the trainmen knew aught of what had happened. John Holt, a negro member of the crew, who was riding on top of one of the box cars, saw the severed portion and had the train stopped.

The lower portion of the unfortunate young man's body was found between the running-board and the tender. A shoe was found 100 feet from where the engine was stopped and the head showed the effects of having been dragged along the track.

The switch engine was in charge of Engineer David Poplin. The string of freight cars had been assembled on the uptown freight yards to the east. Letters found in the young man's pockets identified him as Gus Baumgartner. Later this was confirmed, it being learned that he was a weaver for the Louise mill. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Baumgartner of Yorkville, S. C., and a brother of Mrs. R. B. Blanchard of Belmont, a suburb of this city. Mr. Charles T. Hicks, overseer of the Louise mill stated last night that Baumgartner had been an employee of that establishment about three months. Ten days ago he had secured leave of absence to return to his home and visit his parents. He was expected to report for duty this morning. Evidently he had returned to the city with this purpose in view and last night's mysterious accident ended his life.

SPENCER SHOPS RESUME

FULL TIME WORK PROGRAM.
Salisbury, Aug. 4.—Notices were put up in the Spencer shops Monday announcing that commencing this week the company would return to work 8 hours per day and six days in the week. This is good for the employees who have been working five days a week for some time.

It means that the men will draw larger checks next month, that business is improving throughout the country and that the Southern is enjoying its share of the prosperity.

It means, too, a great deal to the merchants and business people of Salisbury and Spencer, for what helps the men at the shops helps them.

Everybody will be glad of the change and will hope that it will not be necessary to reduce the working hours soon again, but that they will be increased.

Rocky Mount Man Bankrupt.

Raleigh, Aug. 4.—A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed with the clerk of the United States court yesterday by R. B. Williford, of Rocky Mount. The liabilities are $3,000 and the assets $490.

GOV. DENEEN'S LEG HURT WHEN HORSE SHIED

Elgin, Ill., Aug. 4.—Governor Deneen is today nursing a badly bruised leg, caused by his horse jumping sideways into a carriage last night during the military tournament, in which the governor participated. It was at first thought that the governor was seriously hurt, but he will be all right in a few days.

PROGRAM YEARLY MEETING OF FRIENDS AT GUILFORD COLLEGE

M'CABE

Put on Grill by House Committee Investigating the Wiley Case.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Solicitor Geo. P. McCabe, of the Department of Agriculture, who as a member of the board on personnel, recommended the dismissal of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief chemist, was put on the grill today by the House committee. He stated that the conclusions of the board were that Dr. Wiley should be dismissed from the service.

A Raleigh Wedding.

Raleigh, Aug. 4.—Yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Woodall, on East Hargett street, Miss Ola L. Barber became the bride of Mr. Thomas W. Adams, of this city.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. F. Johnson, of the Hillsboro Street Christian church. The young couple left at 4:05 for Elon College to visit the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Barber.

Three Foreign Capitals Agitated by the Crisis In Morocco Which May Cause a European War.

Whether the crisis over Morocco will plunge Europe into war is agitating three foreign capitals, London, Paris and Berlin. The situation has reached an acute stage. The presence in Moroccan waters of German war vessels, together with the firm position assumed in the diplomatic negotiations by the German secretary for foreign affairs, adds to the uneasiness. Public sentiment in France is against according to the representations of the Kaiser's government. England's position, as stated by the chancellor, David Lloyd-George, is that her alliance with France will hold in the event of German aggression. The negotiations on behalf of the French government are being conducted by Jules Cambon, former French ambassador to the United States, who represented his country in Washington during the Spanish-American war.

RATIFICATION OF ARBITRATION TREATIES URGED

President Sent Them To Senate Today.
Accompanied By a Message

Washington, Aug. 4.—The bill providing for the revision of the cotton schedule, which was passed by the House last night, was received in the Senate today and referred to the finance committee.

President Taft today submitted to the Senate the arbitration treaties between the United States, England and France, signed yesterday by representatives of the three governments. In a message accompanying the treaties the President urged early ratification.

The State Department was notified today by the German government that Ambassador Leishman would be acceptable as a representative of the United States government at Berlin.

Before the Lorimer investigating committee today the examination of State Senator C. A. White, of Illinois, who acknowledged that he violated his oath as a member of the Illinois legislature by accepting a bribe to vote for Senator Lorimer, was continued.

Crossed English Channel.

London, Aug. 4.—Aviator Vedrine left here this morning and flew across the English channel. Since the remarkable flight several days ago by the airman in the Daily Mail contest, however, flights across the channel are considered as ordinary affairs and no excitement was created because of his feat.

WOMAN

Husband Murderer Freed
by California Jury
After Hearing Her Story.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 4.—Acclaimed as a heroine and condeoled by men and women of all classes Anna Langely, 19 years old, who shot and killed her husband on last Wednesday today left the jail a free woman. The trial jury moved by her story of neglect, abuse and vilification, at once returned a verdict of not guilty.

Conditional Pardon Granted.

Raleigh, Aug. 4.—David Raines, of Wayne county, convicted at the May term, 1911, of the crime of seduction and sentenced to twelve months on the roads, was yesterday pardoned conditionally by the Governor, the reasons for pardon being:

"In this case the trial judge, the solicitor, the prosecutrix and her mother, the entire jury, all county and city officers of Goldsboro and Wayne county, and many other citizens recommended clemency. I therefore pardon prisoner on condition that he first pay into the clerk's office, for benefit of prosecutrix at time of the confinement, the sum of twenty-five dollars ($25.00), and that he pay to the prosecutrix on the first day of each month after the birth of the child for twelve months the sum of five dollars ($5.00)."

Eastern District Revenue.

Raleigh, Aug. 4.—The internal revenue collections for this district last month amounted to $996,035.63. For the same month last year they were $279,050.70.

REVOLUTIONISTS CLASH IN STREETS OF PORT AU PRINCE

Twenty Killed, Many Injured in Factional
Fight This Morning.

Port Au Prince, Haiti, Aug. 4.—Factions of the revolutionary army clashed in the streets this morning, twenty men being killed and many injured. The foreign warships have landed additional forces of marines for the purpose of protecting foreigners. It now seems likely that the powers will ask the United States to intervene and quell the disturbance.

WEDDING TO LAST AN HOUR

Quaint Greek Ceremony Will Be Performed Sunday in Baltimore.

Baltimore, Aug. 4.—It will take one hour for Rev. Constantine Douroulis, pastor of the Greek Orthodox church, Chase street and Homewood avenue, to change the name of Miss Helen L. Dezes to that of Mrs. Harry Stathopoulos Sunday afternoon.

This ceremony of the Orthodox Greek Church is picturesque and beautiful. The priest chants the ritual, places rings on the fingers of the bride and groom and garlands of flowers on their heads.

Both bride and groom were born in the land of Pericles. The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. Louis Alexander Dezes, 10 East Cross street, has been in America only three years, and the bridegroom has been an American citizen for only four years.

CITY'S FINANCES SHOWN IN REPORT OF TREASURER BROWN

During First Quarter of New Administration Over $66,000 Expended in Improving Various Departments of Municipality—
Interest was $648.24.

City Treasurer E. A. Brown this afternoon filed with the Board of Commissioners his quarterly report, showing the present condition of the city's finances, what has been received and what has been expended during the administration of the board. The report shows that during the three months has been $648.24 or $48.24 above the amount he received during that time as a commissioner. TENTS

To be Furnished for Accommodation of Those Attending Beattie Trial.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 4.—Because of the inability of the little village of Chesterfield to accommodate the huge crowd that will attend the trial of Henry Clay Beattie on August 14 the sheriff of the county will furnish tents for the purpose of accommodating officers, witnesses and others connected with the case.

The fact that tents are to be supplied gives rise to the rumors that troops will be sent to the scene of the trial to prevent any disturbance that might occur.

The indictment, charging Henry Clay Beattie with the murder of his wife, Mrs. Louise Owen Beattie, was drawn today.

King Alfonso Won Yacht Race.

Cowes, Eng., Aug. 4.—The Hispanian, with King Alfonso at the helm, won the race in the fifteen meter class yacht contest here today.

ADMIRAL TOGO GOES TO WASHINGTON THIS AFTERNOON

Spent Today "Seeing New York"—Called on Mayor Gaynor.

New York, Aug. 4.—Admiral Togo had a great time seeing the sights of New York today. At 10:30 o'clock he called on Mayor Gaynor, after which the remainder of the day was spent in sight-seeing.

This afternoon, accompanied by Assistant Secretary of State Hale and Captain Templin Potts, of the U. S. N., he left for Washington where he will be the guest of honor at several functions. Tomorrow night he will be the guest of honor at a reception given at the White House.

The Japanese hero arrived at midnight and went to a hotel after exchanging greetings with the reception committee awaiting him.

Long before the Cunarder's big bulk blackened the horizon at Sandy Hook the Seneca was on her way to Quarantine with the welcoming party aboard. The delegation consisted of Chandler Hale, Capt. T. M. Potts, of the navy; Major-General Frederick D. Grant, commander of the Department of the East; Adjutant General Vehbeck, national guard of New York, and attaches of the Japanese embassy at Washington. They found the admiral waiting to receive them when they boarded the Lusitania, after two hours stay at Quarantine.

Secretary Hale delivered, on behalf of President Taft, the first brief message of welcome and was followed by others of the deputation.

Seldom has the lower bay witnessed so remarkable a midnight scene. The whole ship sat up to bid the admiral goodbye. The rails were black with his fellow passengers as he stepped down the lowered stairway on the vessel's side to the waiting tugboat.

The admiral's response to his welcome was almost as brief as the welcome itself.

"Happiness is the realization of our anticipations," he said in remarkably good English, "our hopes and desires. I am in America and therefore I am happy."

The hero of the great naval battle comes here as the guest of the American nation and will be the recipient of such honors as are seldom accorded by a democracy to the representative of a monarchy. From the moment he lands until he crosses the border into Canada enroute to his Far Eastern home, the ranking admiral of the Japanese Navy, nicknamed variously "The Silent One," "The Ogre," "The Demon Heihachiro" and the "Nelson of Japan," will follow a set program arranged for him by the State and Navy Departments of this government.

ACEVEDO IN IRONS; REVO- LUTION ENDED

Havana, Cuba, Aug. 4.—General Acevedo arrived here this morning in irons, being greeted with laughter by Havana citizens. His abortive attempt to cause a revolution and overturn of the government is really laughable. His capture puts an end to the revolution.

President Gomez announces that he will have Acevedo tried by the civil courts.

CONFERS ON THE WOOL BILL GET TOGETHER

Washington, Aug. 4.—The first conference of the conferees of the wool bill was held today. A sub-committee was appointed, consisting of Representative Underwood and Senator LaFollette, who will get together and report a compromise bill early next week.

PAINT THE FARM HOUSES AND BUILDINGS.

The Waynesville Enterprise is urging the farmers of western North Carolina to paint their homes and buildings. The painting campaign is on in earnest and is being urged upon the farmers by the newspapers and agricultural journals daily and weekly and monthly. The movement is in the right direction and will prove beneficial to the country if it is followed up. Paint not only improves the appearance of buildings but is a preservative. It is worth all it costs for the latter purpose, to say nothing of its value from the standpoint of the beauty added to the country landscape by the application of paint to residences and out-buildings. The Progressive Farmer, one of the agricultural journals engaged in urging upon the farmers the importance of liberal use of paint, says:

"Not only does painting a house add greatly to its beauty and the beauty of the farm as a whole on which it is situated, but there is no doubt about it that it has a very subtle psychological effect in bringing everybody on the place to a more cheerful frame of mind."

To this the Waynesville Enterprise adds:

"There is something depressing about a weatherbeaten, unpainted house that cannot fail to have its effect upon the temper and disposition of its occupants. They cannot have quite the cheerfulness and buoyancy that comes from beautiful surroundings with the contagious suggestion of cheerfulness and prosperity in them."

"Not only is it worth while to paint the farm house for the sake of beauty gained and also for the sake of cheering up the persons who live in it, but it is also worth while as a matter of simple economy. Lumber is already expensive, and becoming more so all the time, and paint lengthens the life of the lumber."

"The South today is the only section of the country in which the painted house is not the rule rather than the exception. There might have been some excuse for our backwardness in the matter when cotton was selling from 5 to 8 cents a pound and farm lands worth from $7 to $10 an acre, but for the condition to exist today is an indictment on our civilization. Our farmers have money enough to enable them to paint their houses and there is no excuse for their not doing so. And even the man who feels that he cannot yet afford to paint, the small farmer in debt, the tenant can whitewash his buildings. Whitewash is wholesome and will make the lowliest home look neat, thrifty and cheerful."

"Just one amendment: Use good taste in selecting colors. A house may be spoiled absolutely by billious colors and bad combinations."

WHAT WILL THE PRESIDENT DO?

The country is awaiting the time when the Farmers' Free List bill and the Wool bill will be presented to the President for his signature, as it now appears will undoubtedly be the case. The opinion is very generally expressed that Taft will veto both bills. The opinion is also very general that the President will drop into a large sized and deep hole about the time he turns down these important measures. The prospects with reference to his action are fairly expressed in the following from the Columbia State:

"The fair prospect is that the President of the United States will have the opportunity to sign, in a few days, a bill complementary to Canadian reciprocity and tending to correct whatever injuries may inhere in the latter to the food-producing farmers of the country, as well as a bill reducing the import duties on wool which, as fixed by the Payne-Aldrich bill, he has already condemned as unfair and violative of the platform pledges of his party.

"If President Taft vetoes the two bills, his excuse will be that he awaits a tariff commission to point the way to correction of admitted and deliberately perpetrated evils in tariff schedules which no tariff commission helped to frame. Mr. Taft's position will be that only experts should be allowed to reform schedules that were originally made by persons expert in framing them unjustly. When 'first aid to the injured' country is offered by Democrats and insurgent Republicans, he will stand in the way to prevent it being rendered in order that the specialists may have full charge of the case—lest the parties who have done the injuries, who have inflicted the wounds, may suffer some mishap from the crude methods of those who are merely concerned with the interests of the country and not with the interests of 'the interests.'"

"However, the people of this Republic are learning to move in straight lines. Their vision is not obscured by the sectional passions of 40, 30 or even 10 years ago, and they will understand, when the President vetoes the Farmers' Free List bill and the Wool revision bill, that Penrose, Dalzell and the other standpatters still hold the ribbons over him."

The Moroccan "crisis" and the Montenegro "crisis" are evidently making a desperate effort to see which one can remain a "crisis" the longest.

The movement "back to South Carolina" will begin soon, and the mountains of this State will be largely depopulated of their summer visitors.

In Alabama a militia officer is to be court martialed for "cussing" the Governor, and the Mount Airy Leader wants to know what they propose to do to Editor Josephus Daniels in this State.

The end of the extra session of Congress draws near, but the end is coming too late in the season to permit Champ Clark to go on the Chautauqua circuit and win back the thousand dollars a week he has been losing throughout the summer.

Lots of people are enjoying their vacations now, but it will be mighty hard a little later to come home and get down to work again. The man who can not take a vacation may be pitied by those who can, but he does not have to pass through this experience.

Dr. Wiley, whose scalp has not yet been removed by the large and enthusiastic array of enemies he has made in the course of several years of faithful attendance to his duties, announces that there is too much foam and not enough beer in the average glass. The Doctor's remarks may be applicable to some States but not to North Carolina. There is not even near beer or near foam in the glasses down here.

Now they are trying to prove that Ty Cobb is a native of North Carolina. In the event of the success of this movement perhaps the Winston Journal not find it necessary to inquire why The Telegram is proud of the fact, as it is in the case of Hoke Smith. Both Hoke Smith and Ty Cobb have secured much free advertising for their adopted State, but it is possible for North Carolina to secure some by circulating the report that they are natives of this State.

THINK ORGANIST KIDNAPPED.

Latest Theory Is That Elsie Davis Was Carried Off in Auto.

Bethel, Me., Aug. 4.—That Miss Elsie Davis, twenty-two years old, the accomplished daughter of Charles M. Davis, who has been missing from her home here since last Sunday morning, was kidnapped and carried away in an automobile is the latest theory.

Because her father's revolver was not found in its accustomed place it was at first believed she had taken the weapon with which to end her life. Since hundreds of persons who have searched the woods for miles around have failed to find any trace of her, the suicide theory has been abandoned. The mills here and at Locke's mills are shut down that the operatives may join in the girl hunt.

Miss Davis has been the organist at the Methodist church here for several years and at 10 o'clock Sunday was preparing to leave for the church. An hour later she had disappeared. A strange automobile passed through here and was heard by those at the church service, but no one is able to give a description of the machine.

Since the death of her mother she has kept house for her father and brother.

"What's your husband so angry about?" "He's been out of work six weeks."

"I should think that would suit him first rate."

"That's it. He's just got a job."—Meggendorfer Blaetter.

"Why did you break your engagement with that teacher?"

"If I failed to show up at her house every evening, she expected me to bring a written excuse signed by my mother."—New York Evening Mail.

BUSINESS TELEGRAMS

Make news in your store—and then print it! And, inevitably, your store will grow more and more a center of interest to the people of the city.

Wouldn't you feel uneasy if your competitor suddenly doubled the amount of advertising space he uses in this newspaper? If it would be a good thing for him to do, perhaps it would be a good thing for you to do.

Some people who wouldn't visit your store, perhaps, for three months may be among your next hundred customers if your advertising is really convincing.

If a competitive store has, for a long period, better and more convincing advertising than your store has, a majority of people will conclude that it must be a better store.

You would judge another business man by his advertising—so do not hope to escape the test yourself.

Your "store news" has never been fully told, on every day that your store is open, for any length of time—has it? Shouldn't it be?

During the next month advertise your store as effectively as you secretly wish you had been able to advertise it the past month! It's an experiment for a stout heart and brain!

Nearly everybody understands that a store's advertising, if big and persistent, enables it to sell the same things more cheaply, at a smaller per sale profit, than is possible to the store compelled to base necessary profits on smaller volume of sales!

Readers of a newspaper expect to find in it all of your store news that is of enough importance to have a place in a newspaper. And you probably know that as to stores, "no news is bad news."

A merchant who tries to make his advertising the best in town may not quite succeed in that—he'll succeed in making his store twice as popular and profitable as before that aspiration ruled him!

THE HOUR OF REPRIEVE

(By CARA REESE.)
Softly, softly; it is the hour of reprieve.

Sleep has fallen on the careworn features, the tension is relaxed, a languor steals over the memory of the day's fruitless efforts, the patient hands are restless and the dear head nestles back in the old arm chair like a tired child against the mother's breast.

Softly, softly; it is the hour of reprieve. A later time will be soon enough for the boisterous outcry you are about to make, for the angry intrusion into nature's tranquility, for the nagging, the complaining and the prodding toward greater zeal, for the robbing and despoiling. It is the hour of reprieve, stand back; the place is holy, the toiler is worthy the hire of a few minutes' forgetfulness in sleep!

It will be soon enough by and by to talk of retrieving the lost fortunes, of catching up on the mistakes, of chiding the delinquencies. It will be time enough the next day to suggest your ideas, to talk about backbone, spunk and all that and to indulge in the practice of a good "hoist." It will be soon enough after the next day's breakfast to put the "bee in the bonnet," to "talk shop" and work up into high temper.

But not now; the man is tired. All day the poor old feet have trudged to this shop and that. The advertisements have been answered and the influential friends looked up. Long distances afoot have been covered to save the price of a telephone call or a fare in train or trolley. There have been rebuffs and discouragements and the weary day has ended with nothing accomplished. Hold your tongue, and this applies to thoughtless youth and other interfering and obstreperous family adjuncts. It is a contemptible practice to "pitch in" with either fresh advice or a whimpering upbraiding the minute porridge old dad, out of work and jaded and dust begrimed, drags his weary frame home for a bite of supper.

This thing of starting in to retrieve fortunes on air and with a lump in the throat, or of listening to and entering enthusiastically into a fresh campaign when suffering the agonies of broken-down arches known as "flat foot," or of showing elasticity as to ideas, except a "stretch" in hammock or armchair, is beyond dad in his present exhausted condition.

It is the hour of reprieve, step softly every last one of you. If there are chores to be done, do them yourselves. If there be a "promise" of better or worse ahead, let the promise "lay over" as long as the nap. Kick out everything animate or inanimate that makes a noise. It is the hour of reprieve. Let the man snore, forget his troubles in sleep and if he likes it, to wander in the Elysian fields in dreamland.

It is a crime anyhow to launch a tirade or to roll forth plans and suggestions for additional labor to any toiler who has been out meeting the cares of the day and who returns in the evening exhausted. There should be an undisturbed period of reprieve for the outside worker when the day is over. The hour of reprieve is precious, step softly.

THE DOORS WIDE OPEN

(By CARA REESE.)
The doors of opportunity are wide open, son. Every door is open, except possibly the bank door, but even here the receivers window yawns a sleepy welcome.

No trouble about the doors. There is no door shut against you. All you have to do is to "walk in." There is a big scare afoot each year immediately after the commencement season. Somebody starts the cry like "mad dog" that there are no vacation jobs and there are no permanent positions and nothing with money or promise of money in it.

It looks like it, does it not, when you read page after page of classified wants in the newspapers? Firms and enterprises do not spend money for nothing. It is a case of downright need when they resort to cold print in their search for "help wanted." Keep on answering the advertisements. You might try a line or two yourself stating the opening you desire. The doors are open all the time. The trouble is that you go blundering past them, or your gaze is on the clouds and you fail to see them, or you are depending too implicitly on someone else to "place you."

Place yourself. Begin most anywhere. The doors are open. After all you know this truth pretty well, but you are patting your pride on the head and would rather have a choice of some sort. You prefer a certain kind of door, one with marble steps leading up to it and bronze lions in the way, perhaps a crest instead of an honest keystone in the arch above. You desire to start through a magnificent portal the kind which bears the doorplate of "finis" for those who are entitled to pass through without knocking.

What is the matter with the ice wagon son? There is a good cool place for a start and where your athletic training will stand you in good stead. What is the matter with tramping weary miles ere this for the mere fun of it. Or what is the matter with "going fishing" for profit? Or berry picking? Or helping with water melons? Or, your camera ought to be utilized in bringing you something. Snapshots of babies, if nothing else, so much per head. And do not be disappointed in the wage. Do not spend all you make.

It is not all joke about the receiver's window. A trifle shoved under the grating now and then is a sure sign that you are progressing. There is great stress laid on the early industry of those who are now known as successful. Many interesting stories are told of capability and nimbleness. But after all there were many others who were equally industrious and capable and clever. The difference was merely this: The one with the pile was the one who saved, taking honesty for granted. You have the same chance. Sight the doors.

MEXICAN EDITOR ABUSIVE.

Consul Magill Demands Punishment for Attack on Americans.

Guadalajara, Mexico, Aug. 4.—A demand for the immediate punishment of Enrique Villalaz, editor of a weekly, El Gate, for grossly insulting Americans, has been made to the Governor by American Consul Samuel E. Magill. The last issue of the paper contains an acrostic whose initial letters direct to Americans the vilest epithet in the Spanish language.

The editor's alleged incentive was the lynching of Antonio Rodriguez in Texas last November. The acrostic consists of verses to Columbus, deploring the discovery of America, because of the "present infamous inhabitants of the United States."

The authorities have instituted criminal proceedings against Villalaz. Consul Magill declared that if the prosecution were not pushed an appeal would be made to the American embassy.

MAY CHANGE DATE OF ROAD MEETING.

President Taft Tells Richmond People He Cannot Come in October.

Richmond, Aug. 3.—Because of the inability of President Taft to attend the meeting of the American Association for Highway Improvement, to be held in Richmond October 30 and 31 and November 1, a change of date is now being considered. Efforts will be made this morning to learn if the President can come to Richmond during the week of November 21.

A Richmond delegation went to Washington yesterday morning and called on President Taft at the executive offices. In the party were Hon. D. C. Richardson, mayor of Richmond; Tazewell M. Carrington, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Major J. C. Hemphill, editor of The Times-Dispatch. Senator Thomas S. Martin took the party to the White House, whither it was accompanied also by Lee McClung, treasurer of the United States, and J. E. Pennypacker, secretary of the American Association for Highway Improvement.

A cordial invitation was extended the President to attend the meeting of the association. He expressed the greatest interest in the work of highway improvement, and said he was always especially glad to come to Richmond. On consulting his notes he found that he has engagements in the West and could not possibly attend on either of the days fixed for the convention. Were it not for this he would gladly, he said, be present.

Upon further examination of his notes the President found that he could attend a meeting here if held between November 14 and 18. It was determined at once to try to get a corresponding change. But Mr. Carrington recalled later that during that week the League of American Municipalities will be in session in this city, and he feared that both conventions could not well be handled. So it was determined to see if the following week will suit the President, and he will be communicated with at once on this point.

All the members of the party were much pleased with the cordial reception and kindly interest shown by the Executive.

Thirty Years Together.

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guess work in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and its best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it for forty years. It's the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequaled for laryngitis, asthma, hay fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Fariss Klutz Drug Co.

"Tommy Jones dreamed last night that he had a whole pie to eat, and I didn't."—Toledo Blade.

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt-rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif., "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c at Fariss Klutz Drug Co.

"Did you tell her father she had accepted you?"

"Yes."

"And what did he say?"

"Said the silly season was evidently open."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Hay Fever, Asthma and Summer Colds Must be relieved quickly and Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will do it. E. M. Stewart, 1034 Wolfram St., Chicago, writes: "I have been greatly troubled during the hot summer months with Hay Fever and find that by using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound I get great relief." Many others who suffer similarly will be glad to benefit by Mr. Stewart's experience. Howard Gardner.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.

Is the Only Possible Way of Having An Effective Cure.

If you see a woman or a man with luxuriant glossy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything in nearly every case where women anen have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff but not one but Newbro's Herpicide tell you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy the germ but Newbro's Herpicide. 75 PER CENT. OF THE BIG ADVERTISERS OF AMERICA PREFER EVENING NEWSPAPERS

Out of 400 Large Department Stores 302 say they Prefer Evening Papers and Give Reasons Why

(FROM THE LOS ANGELES RECORD)

OUT of 400 letters sent to the large Department Stores of America asking which they considered a better medium for advertising, a morning or an evening daily newspaper, 392 replied. Of these replies 302 stated they preferred the evening newspaper for advertising; 26 stated they gave the evening paper first copy when they used an evening and a morning paper. As the Department Stores are always the largest advertisers in their respective cities and are in a position to see where the results come from, their opinions, formed from experience, are most valuable. They all speak most emphatically of the advantages of the evening paper over the morning paper for advertising. Of these 302 advertisers who prefer the evening paper a large number of them use the evening paper exclusively and find the returns most profitable.

THE following statements made by the different large firms of America show why they prefer the evening paper over the morning paper:

ST. LOUIS, MO.—The evening paper is best, as it is the one that gets into the homes and stays there. Men carry the morning paper downtown on their way to work in most cases.—Wm. Barr Dry Goods Co.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—The evening paper undoubtedly is the best advertising medium, because it most surely gets into the very hands toward which all department store advertising is intended—the women of the house—and because then there is plenty of time to read, plan and digest.—Loveman, Joseph & Loeb.

CHICAGO, ILL.—We spend $325,000 a year and 75 per cent of it is in the evening papers and 25 per cent in Sunday papers. Even with our great morning papers we cannot make them pay, though the experimenting has cost us $100,000.—Siegel, Cooper & Co.

EVANSVILLE, IND.—We prefer the evening paper for advertising because the housekeeper, business man and working man have more time to go through the paper in detail after the day's work is over and have time to plan their next day's shopping. Our experience is that we get quicker and more direct results from the evening paper.—Fowler, Dick & Walker.

BOSTON, MASS.—We consider the evening paper the best medium, because it is taken home and the women get to see it.—Henry Siegel Company.

BRIDGEPORT, CONN.—We consider the evening newspaper better, because we cater to the working people, and they are employed from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. and their only leisure time is in the evening, and they invariably take only evening papers, and have more time to read advertisements.—Cline Bros.

ALBANY, N. Y.—We consider the evening newspaper a better medium for advertising, because women have more time and better opportunity to read the evening papers.—Waldman Bros.

AKRON, OHIO.—We consider an evening paper a superior medium. The evening paper goes direct to the homes and is more thoroughly read. It is read by men after business duties are through for the day and they are more liable to remember the advertising. The morning paper is used by office men.—C. H. Leager & Co.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—We consider the evening paper the best advertising medium, as the average woman does not take time to read a paper until her work is done.—Ed Schuster & Co.

DETROIT, MICH.—We prefer the evening paper.—Partridge & Blackwell.

CINCINNATI, OHIO.—Best results from evening newspapers. The only time I use a morning paper is Sunday for Monday's business. Balance of the week the evening papers do the work to my entire satisfaction.—The Fair.

LOUISVILLE, KY.—We use afternoon papers exclusively during the week. Morning papers on Sunday only.—John C. Lewis Company.

ST. LOUIS, MO.—For advertisements containing items of special prominence likely to produce a rush, the evening newspaper serves as a better advertising medium, first, because people as a rule, have more time to read an evening paper thoroughly and note the contents thereof; second, it gives an opportunity to shoppers to select what items they contemplate purchasing and allows them time to prepare a program for the next day's shopping.—Burgin Dry Goods Company.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—We prefer the evening paper week days and the morning paper Sundays only, because the evening paper is brought to the home by the member of the family who goes to business and buys and reads the paper on his way home. The Sunday paper is delivered at the home and read in the home.—Price & Rosenbaum.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—We consider the evening paper the better medium for advertising, mainly because the evening paper goes into the home and stays there when there is time for the whole family to read and consider.—Frederick Losser & Co.

ST. PAUL, MINN.—We have always given the evening paper the preference. We spend $40,000 a year for advertising and this all goes into newspapers. We use no other medium of any kind, as we consider ANYTHING OUTSIDE OF THE NEWSPAPER as money wasted.—W. H. Elsinger & Co.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—We consider the evening paper better as a general thing, for it is usually the home paper.—Calendar, McAuslin — Troup Co.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—The evening paper is, in our opinion, most profitable for advertising.—The Wm. H. Block Company.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—We do most of our advertising in the evening paper.—Wm. Henerer Co.

BOSTON, MASS.—We prefer the evening paper by all means, because it goes into the homes directly, while the morning paper has a tendency to work back into the business section and does not reach the homes in such relative number as the evening paper.—Houghton & Dutton.

ST. PAUL, MINN.—Where I've been, almost without exception, the evening paper is the best medium.—W. H. Milligan, Advertising Manager Field, Schlick & Co.

CLEVELAND, OHIO.—The evening paper by all means.—The Bailey Company.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—It is our opinion that the evening paper is better, as the shopper is prepared to sally forth the next morning.—Penny & Gentles.

FRENCH FARMER ATTEMPTED MURDER OF HIS WIFE

Paris, Aug. 4.—A sanguinary scene took place in a farm house at Orly, where a husband attempted to kill his wife and then committed suicide. The man was 50 years of age, and had three children, the eldest of whom was 11. Two years ago his wife left him on account of alleged ill-treatment, and went to work on a farm at Orly. Her husband induced her to return to live with him, but as she again complained of his brutal conduct, she left him for good a month ago, taking the youngest child with her. She sought employment at the same farm, and her husband then seems to have made up his mind to kill her and to take his own life afterwards. He waited until all the farm laborers had gone to the field, and entered the house where he knew that his wife was alone in the kitchen. He asked her in an angry voice whether she would return to live with him or not, and getting a refusal he took out a revolver and fired four shots at her. As she was at the other side of a wooden table and bench, she was able to partly shield herself by crouching under the bench, and only one of the shots struck her and wounded her in the head. Thinking that he had killed her, the man fired the two remaining shots at himself, but without wounding himself seriously. He had brought a supply of cartridges, and was loading his revolver again when he saw his wife move and heard her groan. Furious at this, he dragged her out into the yard and left her there bleeding. Then he rushed back into the house and entered a room where his youngest child was in a bed with an aged invalid, who could only ask in terror what was happening. He kissed the child frantically, then rushed out into the kitchen again, where he fired a shot through his head. He died almost instantly. A servant who returned just at that moment ran away in terror to call the farm hands, and the man's wife, who had been able to get up, walked to the town with a bullet in her head. It was extracted immediately by a surgeon, and her life will probably be saved.

It doesn't cost very much to please a woman, but keeping her pleased is what causes many a man to go broke.

Twenty-five Thousand Men Were In Elks' Atlantic City Parade

Photos by American Press Association.

TWENTY-FIVE thousand members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks took part in the parade which formed the principal feature of the recent Elks' convention at Atlantic City. The parade was seven miles long, and it required two hours for it to pass the reviewing stand. About fifty bands furnished music for the marchers, and 75,000 spectators witnessed the pageant. Every state was represented in the parade, and many of the lodges had costumes and floats that were unique and striking. The Trenton (N. J.) lodge, shown in the picture, attracted much attention. The members wore blue serge suits, with white caps and shoes and carried blue and white parasols. The lodge from Columbus, O., also shown in the picture, carried a huge American flag, and they stopped at times while the well-trained chorus sang "The Star Spangled Banner."

"We need more public spirit in this town."
"Yes, but if we had a first-class second baseman, I think the attendance would be better."—Chicago Record-Herald.

JAPANESE PROPOSE RAISING GREAT CHARITY FUND

Tokio, Aug. 4.—The Siaseikai, or Charity Association, now being organized by Prince Katsura, is one of the most remarkable undertakings of modern times. It is proposed to collect a fund of no less than $15,000,000 the interest on which is to be devoted entirely to the relief of extreme poverty or sickness among the poor. The Emperor heads the fund with $500,000 from his privy purse. Subjects like K. Okura followed suit, and the money is coming in rapidly.

It is noteworthy that, so far, the bulk of the subscriptions comes from commoners and that certain well known names are conspicuous by their absence. This fact was the text of a speech delivered by Mr. Suenobu, a business man well known abroad. He is a man who is notorious for holding strong opinions and giving strong expression to them.

Mr. Suenobu took for a theme the contrast between the peers of the realm and the commoners, who had earned their money by hard labor. He made a vehement attack upon the men of title, who for the past three centuries had been in receipt of huge hereditary incomes bestowed on their forefathers after the battle of Sekigahara, simply because they had put lance in rout to support the cause of the Tokugawa.

Men like Admiral Togo and General Nogi had received petty pensions which would die with them so that their total income could not exceed $10,000 to $15,000 whereas nobles like Prince Mori and Shimizu had been in receipt of yearly incomes of something like $500,000 ever since the beginning of the seventeenth century. These were the men who, called themselves the bulwark of the Throne, but it did not appear that they were greatly concerned to assist the sovereign's benevolent intentions.

At the age of threescore and ten many a man reminds us of an experiment that failed.

County Medical Society in Session

Convening at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Benbow building the Guilford County Medical Society held the regular monthly meeting. The meeting was devoted largely to a discussion of Salvarsan, or 606, and the results of its use. Pellagra was also discussed for a few minutes by the doctors. The meeting was an interesting one, but comparatively few of the physicians of the city and county took advantage of the occasion to be present.

As acting president, Dr. A. R. Wilson presided over the meeting and Dr. W. M. Jones served as secretary. In an article on the subject Dr. J. W. Tankersley presented the history of Salvarsan and reported the cases of its use that had come to his notice. The methods of

GAMBLERS FINED BY JUDGE EURE

Thirty minutes was the length of the session of Municipal Court this morning and it was devoted to the trial of several negroes who were rounded up yesterday afternoon for gambling in the rooms occupied by a pressing club on Davis street by Policemen McCuiston, aided by his comrade, D. F. Causey, holy terror among skin artists, dope dealers, booze merchants, and crooks in general. Causey watched the game for several minutes to secure evidence and then securing help, the bold raid was made that resulted in the capture of half a dozen handlers of the dice. The sextette was composed of the notables Thornton Mills, Pinkney Lee, Arthur Martin, George Scales, Robert Gorrell and Lindsay Evans. Though several of the crowd made tracks at the entrance of the police all were on hand for trial this morning.

The evidence did not show that the latter trio were actively engaged in the game and on their earnest protestations of innocence they were declared not guilty. Lee, Mills and Martin were seen in action, however, and the efforts of an attorney were not sufficient to prevent Judge Eure from imposing a fine of $20 and the costs on the three, individually. All immediately gave notice of appeal but one was later withdrawn by Martin, who risked no further chances of a term on the roads and agreed to pay the total of $26.75. Bond of $75 was fixed for the other men and they were consigned to the county jail until they are bailed out by friends.

In the report of court proceedings yesterday morning it was erroneously stated that a white man named Tom McBride was arraigned on the charge of an affray with a negro. It was Tom McDew who was in trouble with the negro, Hence Caldwell, but was cleared of the charge.

PARDON OF W. P. BLACK REVOKED BY GOVERNOR KITCHIN

Special to Telegram.
Raleigh, Aug. 4.—An order was made by Governor Kitchin today, revoking the pardon of W. P. Black, the Asheville man who has been in the limelight some time, and he was taken in custody this morning in Asheville, preparatory for recommitting to service on the roads. He had served seven months of a 22 months sentence before he was pardoned in January, 1910. Revocation was on certified copy of conviction for the white slave traffic.

Laundrymen To Meet.

John M. Dick and R. N. Hadley will leave tomorrow for Wrightsville Beach to attend the meeting of the Laundrymen's Association of the Carolinas, which begins Monday.

administration of 606 was treated by Dr. W. F. Cole, explaining the value of various methods. Dr. Charles Roberson was on the program for a paper on the "Present Status of Salvarsan," but in his absence the meeting was opened to discussion, which was led by Dr. Burrus. Drs. R. O. Dees, L. Mosely, George W. Norman and W. M. Jones, of High Point, then made short talks on the subject under consideration.

Popular Club Sandwich.

With a cup of coffee or cocoa it is almost a meal itself. Cut slices of bread about one-fourth of an inch thick, remove the crust and reserve half of the slices to be used plain. Toast the remaining half very delicately and butter almost imperceptibly, so little is used. Broil very thinly cut slices of bacon; place strips of bacon on plain bread and cover with a heart leaf of lettuce; add mayonnaise dressing, daintily sliced cold chicken and finish with toasted slice on top. Serve on leaves of lettuce, garnished with parsley, or on dolly without any garnish.

Every Dollar of an Ad-Reader's Money is Above Par!

Frequently Its Buying Power Is Actually Doubled!

YOUR DOLLARS vary in value as they vary in purchasing power. The man or woman who studies advertisements is able, frequently, to make one dollar do the usual work of two.

And the experienced reader of advertisements will always make a dollar command a premium—make it buy more than a dollar's worth, as figured on "ruling prices" of things.

How much "above par" are the dollars in your pocket worth? It will depend on how closely you study the buying opportunities outlined in the store ads.

Dove-Eyed Mule

Causes Excitement

A dove-eyed mule, with a temper otherwise than amiable, caused a considerable degree of excitement on Davis street this morning about 10 o'clock. Ownership of the animal is claimed by Henry Dillison, a trader in such animals. His "muleship" became violently excited when he was started on a trip down the street at a pace faster than he enjoyed. Consequently he opened fire with his battery end, and at the time being harnessed to a buggy he became tangled and threw himself to the ground. He was unable to rise and though at a disadvantage he kept up a merry fight for about 10 minutes. He was pacified and coaxed to his feet after the buggy was unhitched, and when fully persuaded that he had taught his drivers a lesson concerning the manner of his progress he suddenly lapsed very docile, and required the attention of only two negroes to keep him quiet in the street. A short time later the mule was driven away with a little more caution used in the action of starting.

STATE GRANGE SNUBS TAFT

Connecticut Body Refuses to Receive Him At State Fair.

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 4.—The Times yesterday afternoon says the Connecticut State Grange has notified the Connecticut Fair Association that it cannot participate in the reception to be tendered President Taft when he comes to the fair in Charter Oak Park early in September as a guest of the Connecticut Fair Association.

The Times also prints interviews with F. E. Duffy, of West Hartford, and State Railroad Commissioner John H. Hale, both executive officers of the State Grange, indorsing the attitude of the grange.

The attitude of the grange is attributed entirely to the President's advocacy of reciprocity with Canada. Mr. Duffy, whose protests in Washington at the time of the reciprocity hearings created widespread comment, has charge of the live stock at the Connecticut fair. In the interview he says:

"Some time ago the manager of the fair invited the grange to participate, as the usual Grange Day was to be observed. This week, when it was learned that President Taft had accepted an invitation to attend the fair, the situation changed. The fair authorities have been notified that the grange will not take part in the fair this year."

"Why?" he was asked.
"For the reason that the grange is opposed to the reciprocity idea in all its aspects, and as President Taft has been the leader in that movement the grange does not care to take part in any event in which he is a guest."

Miss Thelma Lambeth and Mrs. F. D. Lambeth, who have been visiting in Durham, have returned to their home at Guilford College.

MARYLAND GOVERNOR

TALKS ABOUT CAMPAIGN

Baltimore, Aug. 4.—Governor Cuthbert has explained his views of the way in which the gubernatorial campaign should be conducted and his intentions as to his method of presenting to the people his own candidacy. He had been told of the general surprise expressed at his failure to directly mention his candidacy in his speech at Denton.

"My understanding of the present political attitude of the people," he said, "is that they are getting back to the old-fashioned Jeffersonian doctrine that the will of the greatest number shall prevail. In line with this feeling we have here in Maryland, now, a Direct Primary law which enables the people themselves to choose, through party agencies, the candidates for whom they shall vote at the general election."

"What the people want to know is whether candidates represent the great mass of the public or special interests, and the only way they can learn is by statements from the candidates of beliefs and purposes. While it is a commendable thing for a man to aspire to high office, that should not be the main thing; it should be incidental, and candidates should go to the people with statements of their principles and position on current issues. The people can then make their choice of the man who will best carry out their will."

"If the spirit of the new primary law is to be carried out, it will be necessary for the people to know the personal platforms of the aspirants, so to speak, and I think that the thing to do is to discuss issues, not my personal hopes or ambitions."

THERE'S Probably a Classified Ad in this Issue That's of Even More Importance to You Than to the Advertiser Himself!

Can't you conceive how this may be true?

Suppose it's an ad offering employment that would be both congenial and profitable to you—or an ad of a place to live where life would be twice as good and livable to you as where you are now "passing" it—or a real estate ad, affording an undeniable profit-opportunity to an investor who has real estate "gumption"—or an ad through which that nearly-satisfactory servant is at last found! Would not ads of these sorts be of really greater importance to you than to the people who wrote them and paid for having them published in this paper?

Miss Land Entertains.

Miss Bettie Aiken Land delightfully entertained at bridge this morning from 10 to 12 o'clock at her home on South Edgeworth street in honor of her house guests, Miss Katherine Klutz, of Salisbury, and Caroline Boykin, of Suffolk, Va. The games were interesting and greatly enjoyed by the players at four tables, and at the end of the play the prize was awarded to Miss Etta Stockard, of Washington City, who is visiting Mrs. Wade Stockard.

Miss Williams Hostess.

Miss Anna Williams was the hostess last evening to about 80 young people of the city at a pleasing reception in honor of her house guests, Miss Lucy Landis, of Oxford, and Josephine Gales, of New York. The large party of guests enjoyed the occasion immensely. The dining room of the Williams home on West Gaston street was tastefully decorated with cut flowers and ferns in a color scheme of white and green. Punch was served throughout the hours by Miss Elizabeth Wetmore and Miss Mary Veres, of New York.

Women and Society

Barlton-Boyd.

Wednesday at high noon Luther E. Carlton of Richmond, led to the altar Miss Myrtle L. Boyd of Ingram, Va., at the home of the bride's mother. She is a daughter of the late T. A. S. Boyd, and one of the most attractive, charming and popular young ladies of Halifax county. The groom is one of the leading young business men of Richmond, Va., and is connected with the Imperial Tobacco Co. Edgar Carlton of Richmond, president of the company in the United States, brother of the groom, was best man, and Miss Sadie Boyd, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Nannie Carlton, of Richmond, sister of the groom, rendered Mendelssohn's Wedding March, and Rev. S. B. Klapp, of Greensboro, celebrated the rite of matrimony. The bride wore a beautiful gown of gray batiste with princess lace and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. Miss Sadie Boyd, maid of honor, wore embroidered batiste with princess lace, and carried bridesmaid roses.

The parlor was tastefully decorated with ferns and flowers. Immediately after the ceremony the wedding party and guests were served refreshments and soon after refreshments, the bridal party left on the next train for their bridal tour.

Crutchfield-Stainback.

The following from this morning's Durham Herald will be of interest to Greensboro people:

Dr. William E. Crutchfield last night brought his bride, Miss Ida Belle Stainback, whom he married yesterday morning in Weldon, to Durham, thus giving his friends a pleasing surprise.

The marriage was solemnized at the home of Mrs. Crutchfield's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stainback. From there they came to Durham and will spend their honeymoon here. Their trip to the North was foregone because of the demands made upon Dr. Crutchfield who is supplying for Dr. Albert W. Tucker, who is attending his brother, Dr. S. W. Tucker in Greensboro.

The bridal party came in on the 8 o'clock train and went to Dr. Crutchfield's temporary home. They were met by a few friends who had known of the wedding but who kept the faith and didn't tell it. The one regret of the happy season is that it is to last but a month, after which time Dr. and Mrs. Crutchfield will move to Greensboro.

Mrs. Crutchfield is a graduate of the Southern Female College of Petersburg, later a student in instrumental music in New York City and a gifted musician. She is remembered here by a number of people. She is a young woman of rare gifts and attractiveness the kind of one for so deserving a man as she weds.

Dr. Crutchfield is a Durham man and has spent most of his life here. He is a graduate of the American College of Osteopaths of Kirksville, Missouri, and has passed with high marks the state boards of Mississippi and North Carolina. He is of unquestioned gift in his line and stands high among the men of his profession. When Dr. R. A. Tucker left Durham to attend his brother now ill with typhoid fever, Dr. Crutchfield came here to fill his place. After September he will practice in Dr. S. W. Tucker's clientele in Greensboro.

Dr. Crutchfield has practiced here before, and this added to the pride a city takes in native son, has endeared him to Durham. It is a great regret that instead of his marriage bringing to Durham so delightful a citizen as Mrs. Crutchfield, takes them both away at an early date.

Mrs. Langley Entertains.

At her home on West Market street last evening Mrs. C. P. Langley was the hostess to a score of young people at a pleasing reception tendered complimentary to Miss Mattie Plowden, of Greenwood, S. C. The evening was delightfully spent by all present and Mrs. Langley's success as a hostess was reassured by the evident enjoyment of every guest.

The parlors and porch of the home were artistically decorated for the event. Cut flowers and ferns inside following a color scheme of pink and white were arranged in profusion and beauty. The porch was hung with vines and star jasmine assisted in forming numerous nooks and crannies, admirably adapted for holding tete-a-tetes, an opportunity that was improved to good advantage. Music by numbers of the guests increased the delights of the entertainment. In a flowery corner decorated with honey-suckles and roses punch was served to patrons of the bowl by Mrs. J. W. Alexander. A delicious course of ices, served by the hostess and Mrs. W. P. Kornegay, was later enjoyed by the guests.

Those who participated in the delights of Mrs. Langley's hospitality besides the honoree were Misses Mary and Eleanor Moore, Bessie Alderman and her house guest, Miss Katie Lee McKennon, of Maxton; Misses Maie Dorsett, Mildred Stafford, Alma Sparger, and Mr. Yelvington, Tom Harrison, Sidney Alderman, Will Preyer, Herbert, Harry and Charles Brockmann, Frank Haynes, of Mocksville, and Henry McKennon, of Maxton, who are visiting Sidney Alderman.

Everything At A Convenient Height

The Broiler

Just high enough so that you can watch the meat without stooping.

The Cooking Top

Where your boiling, frying and general cooking is done. This is fixed at a most convenient height and does away with all awkward high lifting.

Extra Warming Plate

This is placed immediately under the broiler next to the cooking top. This plate will be found mighty handy for warming foods, also for slow boiling.

The Oven

Right above the broiler, easy to get at and easy to watch.

The Warming Closet

This is located in the bottom of the range. The closet is large enough to warm the dishes and keep the food warm for a party of twelve.

Extra Large Ovens

Both the oven and the broiler are extra large, not only wide and deep, but they have good height. This is an all important feature and one that will be appreciated by the cook.

STATE DEPARTMENT IS 122 YEARS OLD

George Washington Author of Law Creating the Department—Thomas Jefferson the First Secretary of Foreign Affairs—Some Interesting History.

(By VICTOR ELLIOTT.)
Washington, Aug. 4.—The one hundred and twenty-second birthday of one of the most important branches of the United States government slipped by the other day almost unnoticed. The Department of State was born July 27, 1789. President George Washington was the author of the law creating it. There are few in the diplomatic department who are acquainted with its whole history, and it is doubtful if even Secretary of State Knox thought of the fact that July 27, 1911, marked its birthday anniversary.

The bill creating a Department of Foreign Affairs, or Department of State, as it later became, was one of the first laws enacted by the first session of Congress. The Department of State, furthermore, was the first of the executive branches of the government to be established and for this reason, partly, at least, has always taken precedence over other executive branches. Also, this explains why the Secretary of State and his wife are next to the President and first lady in the land in receiving line at White House receptions, and other state occasions.

The State Department was in practical existence for about ten years prior to the passage of the law officially creating it, an unnamed division of the government having performed the offices of a Foreign Relations or State Department back in the days of the Continental Congress.

The first Secretary of Foreign Affairs, under the law of July 27, 1789, was Thomas Jefferson, who was appointed by President Washington in September of the same year. Not until April of the following year did the first Secretary assume his official duties. About fifteen years before the creation of the Foreign Affairs Department, October 20, 1774, Benjamin Franklin and certain colleagues of his were officially delegated to appear before foreign courts as representatives of the United Colonies of America. That was the inception of the present Department of State. On November 29, 1775, the Continental Congress took the first formal step toward the creation of a department to deal with foreign affairs when there came into existence a secret Committee of Correspondence.

Some eighteen months later, in April, 1777, the title of the Committee on Correspondence was changed to Committee of Foreign Affairs. Until the establishment of a permanent Department of Foreign Affairs in 1789, diplomatic correspondence and negotiations were directed by a committee.

It has been principally through the Department of State that the United States has reached its present exalted station in the congress of nations. And the Department of State, with all its power and its perfected system, with its well-oiled diplomatic grooves which quickly permit direct negotiations with foreign offices of all countries, is relatively today, as in the past, the power for advancement of this country's interests.

The records show that the first treaty ever signed recognizing the independence of the United States, was "The Treaty of Amity and Commerce, and of Alliance Eventual and Defensive Between the United States and France." This was signed in Paris, February 6, 1778, by Benjamin Franklin, Silas Deane and Arthur Lee, representing the United States, and by C. A. Gerard on the part of France. As a result of this treaty, M. Gerard was the first representative of a foreign nation to come to the United States. He was France's first minister plenipotentiary to this country, and bore also a commission as a consul general.

The United States soon thereafter designated William Palfrey its first consul, he being appointed American consul to France December 8, 1780.

A plan for organizing a permanent and regularly constituted Department of Foreign Affairs was submitted to Congress in January, 1781. This plan was put into effect and the department was organized August 10, of the same year. Articles of confederation had been adopted, and the foundation for the present government had been laid. Under the Continental Congress only two Secretaries of State served, the first being Robert R. Livingston, and the second John Jay. A system was established for the new department by these men.

With the formation of the present government, under the constitution, the election of George Washington as President and John Adams as Vice President was declared by the new Congress, and promptly plans were laid for the arrangement of an improved system of conducting the affairs of the nation. The Livingston-Jay ideas of the management of a Department of Foreign Affairs were elaborated.

The plan which President George Washington approved 122 years ago is substantially that which is followed by the modern Department of State.

CARROTS GOOD FOR SYSTEM

Healthful Vegetable Can Be Served in a Number of Most Delicate Dishes.

The humble carrot has an especially good effect on the system at this time, and despite its strong taste it may be made into the most delicate dishes. Winter carrots are slightly boiled in three different waters to remove this rankness, but the new spring sort is dainty enough to require one water only. Spring carrots, which begin to appear in March, are delicious when boiled plainly and served with maitre d'hotel—clarified butter sauce. A dust of finely chopped fresh parsley on top gives them a new piquancy to those who tire of the carrot taste. Carrots served with cream are first boiled in plain water, and then drained and warmed anew in the sauce that has been preparing. To make this sauce dilute a little of the boiled water with two-thirds cream and thicken slightly with cornstarch; season with black pepper and salt and add a tablespoonful of butter. Carrot fritters are made with the cold boiled vegetable mashed up and mixed with bread crumbs and eggs; enough cream to make a thickish batter is used and the fritters are fried in boiling oil. Oyster plant and parsnips are also delicious when served in fritter form, the various ingredients used giving the vegetables a most delicate taste.

Carried Bullet In Leg 33 Years, Now It Serves as a Watch Charm

DR. JAMES ROBIE WOOD, who is still practicing medicine on Staten Island, one of the boroughs of New York city, is hale and hearty at the age of seventy-four, though he carries six scars received at the battle of Gettysburg. Dr. Wood was not in the ranks, but his work as surgeon took him into the thick of the fray, and he never considered danger when attending the wounded. One of the wounds Dr. Wood received at Gettysburg was made by an iron bullet of the canister type. It entered his knee and remained there for a third of a century. About fifteen years ago it began to pain him, and a surgeon removed it. Dr. Wood had it mounted, and he now uses it as a watch charm. It is clearly shown in the above picture. The bullet is about three-fourths of an inch in diameter. Dr. Wood is a native of Georgia, and his war experience was in the Confederate army as a member of a Georgia regiment. At Gettysburg he was in A. P. Hill's corps.

Chocolate Walnut Cakes.

One and a half tablespoonfuls of flour, a quarter of a teaspoonful of baking powder, one tablespoonful of grated chocolate, one and a half tablespoonfuls of sugar, half an ounce of coarsely chopped walnut nut meats, one and a half tablespoonfuls of butter, one egg, half a teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Cream the butter and sugar together, then beat in the egg, lightly stir in the flour, baking powder, grated chocolate and vanilla extract. Put in well buttered small cake tins and sprinkle the chopped walnut meats on the top. When nearly baked brush over the top with a little beaten egg.

Apple Duff.

Two cups of flour, two tablespoons baking powder, quarter teaspoon cinnamon, pinch of salt, two good sized apples hacked fine and dredged in flour. Stir will and add a cup and a half of water. Pinch off the side of a hen egg, roll in the hand to about four inches in length. Put a kettle on with a quart of water, one cup of sugar, two apples cut in quarters. Let it come to a boil. Put the duff in while the water is boiling, cover the kettle and boil 20 minutes.

Good Cake.

One cup sugar, one-half cup of butter, creamed together, whites of three eggs beaten; beat all together, then add one-half cup sweet milk, one and one-half cups of flour, one teaspoon baking powder and a little extract of vanilla.

Frosting—Yolks of three eggs, 15 tablespoonfuls of confectioners' sugar, one drop of almond and one-half teaspoon of vanilla.

Monkey Faces.

One egg, one cup of sugar, butter size of an egg, one-half teaspoonful of soda, two cups of flour, nutmeg and salt, three raisins, on each cookie, two for eyes, one for nose. Drop off the teaspoon on buttered tins.

Rice Omelet.

Add to two cupfuls cold boiled rice two well-beaten eggs, a saltspoonful salt and two tablespoons cream. Turn into a hot buttered pan, cook a few moments, turn and fold.

"Can't see much in an hour."

"I only want to get a label stuck on my suit case."—Pittsburg Post.

"Few men cut their wisdom teeth until they are married."

Soaking the brain in alcohol does not preserve the mind.

A Jelly Hint.

To give variety to plain apple jelly the rose geranium will add a dainty flavor. Allow a clean, large leaf to two quarts, added to the boiling juice a little before the sugar is put in. Remove in three or four minutes. Two whole cloves to the same quantity of juice or a piece of stick cinnamon, a finger long, will give apple jelly a piquant taste which will be liked. Sprigs of mint used in the same way will surprise the family pleasantly when they are served mint jelly with roast lamb or mutton.—Harper's Bazar.

A Few Hints.

When boiling bacon or ham add a little vinegar and two or three cloves to the water and leave the meat in until the water is cold. The flavor will be delicious.

A quick way to mark linen sheets, etc., is to write the name in pencil and then stitch over the linen with a sewing machine, using a coarse thread and long stitch.

To make sure that bread will rise in cold weather warm the flour before mixing.

A small quantity of chopped figs added to a nut and apple salad gives an excellent flavor.

Pork Cake.

One pound clear fat pork, chopped fine; pour over it one pint boiling water and one cup brown sugar, two cups of molasses, two pounds of raisins, one pound currants, one-half pound citron, two teaspoons cloves, one of cinnamon, one of nutmeg, two of soda. Mix as stiff with flour as possible with spoon and bake slowly three hours.

Potato Cylinders.

Paré and parboil ten large potatoes. Take an apple corer and with it cut out as many cylinders as you can from the potatoes; the shells may be used for mashed potatoes. When ready to use cover them with boiling salted water and simmer until tender. Drain and cover with melted butter and chopped parsley.

Home Muffins.

Make a batter of four cupfuls of milk, two tablespoonfuls of sugar and one of butter, a teaspoonful of salt, half a yeast cake dissolved in warm water and flour. Let this rise over night. In the morning whip in four eggs. Bake about 20 minutes.

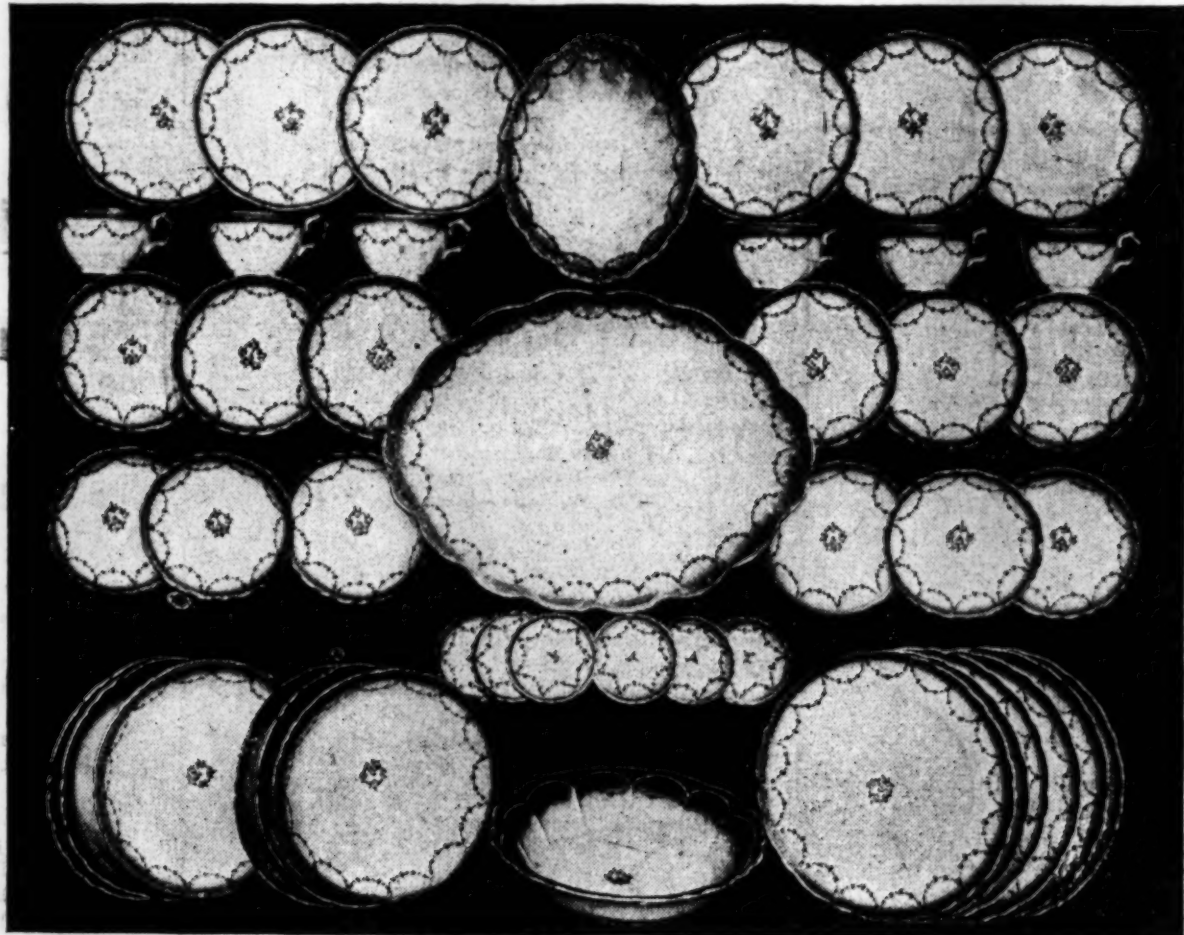

Chicken Casserole.

Put a medium-sized chicken in a casserole whole, add a large lump of butter, onion, salt and pepper. Steam slowly for two hours, then add mushrooms and vegetables as desired. Serve hot, browned.

WOODEN LEGS OF ENGLISHMAN CAUSE OF BEING ARRESTED

Hastings, Aug. 4.—Because of his two wooden legs projecting over the pavement when he sat down Harry Pillsworth, a match seller, was summoned for obstruction at Hastings today.

The path which Pillsworth obstructed is at the narrow end of the parade. He was sitting on a wall, and was sticking his wooden legs out two feet over the footpath, which is less than four feet wide, causing pedestrians to leave the path and walk in the roadway.

The bench dismissed the summons on Pillsworth undertaking not to sit down in future at a crowded part of the parade.

DIAMOND DUST

Where They Play Today and Tomorrow.

Greensboro at Winston.
Charlotte at Anderson.
Greenville at Spartanburg.
All aboard for Winston.
Then, the next stop is Waughtown.
Will play the team that wants to buy a pennant.

"Deacon" Morrissey will probably be on the mound this afternoon.

Tomorrow "Reuben" Eldridge will occupy the knoll, if he is feeling fully recovered from his recent indisposition.

Winston could have gotten the rag for a whole lot less money if they had simply waited and bought it from us after the season is closed.

Coffin has threatened to put Swindell in both days. Please do, or at least put him in toward the last, so we can land on him as the Hornets did Wednesday.

None of the Greensboro fans will make a mistake to take a trip over to Winston tomorrow and see the teams meet in the great conflict that will be pulled off.

The rain yesterday was welcomed by everyone, and one could well afford to miss a ball game for the gentle showers that fell upon the parched earth.

After a day's rest, the Patriots and Twins ought to go at each other with a vengeance that will make the two games long to be remembered in the baseball history of these parts.

Those two games, added to what we have, will put the followers of Doyle in top place. With the team going as it has been for the last two weeks, everything is in its favor.

The humiliation to the Twins will be terrible when these two games are brought home by the Patriots. If money could buy these two games Winston would raise most any price.

There will be enough Greensboro people on hand to see that the team gets a square deal all round. There has been a good deal of complaint of Winston's treatment of visiting teams and umpires this season.

That yesterday's rain was general is evidenced by the fact that none of the teams in the Carolina Association could play ball. The showers were welcomed by players, fans and everybody. No one has cause to regret that one day was given over to Father Boreas.

Today the teams will shift. The Patriots went to Winston this morning for two games with the tribe of Clancy. These two conflicts will be the cream of class baseball. Upon the results depend in a large measure the question of pennant winner in the 1911 season. As the close of the season is only four weeks away every game now counts in the race for the coveted rag.

An effort is being made to get a special train from here to Winston tomorrow afternoon, but if it is not obtained those who wish to go will find the schedule of regular trains convenient, and by buying block tickets can make the round trip for a little more than a dollar. If the special train is obtained it will leave at 2 o'clock.

STRANGE INCIDENT AT TOULON, FRANCE

Paris, Aug. 4.—A sensational and mysterious incident has occurred near Toulon in the quarters of the torpedo station near the Carraques Battery.

It is from this station that the wires are laid for the purpose of exploding by electricity the submarine mines which defend Toulon harbor. Late last night a quartermaster named Kergueve saw that a door leading into the electric room of the station was open. As a rule the door is kept locked.

He was pushing his way in when two men sprang out at him and striking him in the face rushed off into the darkness. He shouted for help and with one of his comrades rushed off after the two men, whom they caught up a few yards away.

But the men, who were masked, quickly outstripped their pursuers, who were joined by other men from the station.

A large red motor car in which a veiled woman was seated was standing some distance from the station. The woman stood up in excitement at the sound of the approaching men and shouted to her friends to hurry. The masked men leaped into the car, the engine of which was running, and dashed off towards the town.

The men from the station then ran back and telephoned to Toulon, where a lookout was kept for the red motor car, but no news of it was received. Information has been given at the Surete and the police are looking for the mysterious men and their companion.

There are twenty-eight torpedoes and mines in the harbor and it is not known whether an attempt was being made to fire them or whether it was intended to cut the wires. The latter theory caused considerable excitement in Toulon.

Loss of Time Means Loss of Pay.
Kidney trouble and the ills it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a working man. M. Balent, 1214 Little Penna St., Streator, Ill., was so bad from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work, but he says: "I took Foley Kidney Pills for only a short time and got entirely well and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than before." Foley Kidney Pills are tonic in action, quick in results—a good friend to the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills. Howard Gardner.

Following Instructions

"Dear," said the little woman carefully, "it's altogether too hot for me to wear my felt hat any longer."

"Well?" said her husband suspiciously. "To say nothing of my own comfort," went on the little woman, "I'm ashamed to have the neighbors see me. I'm the only one in the block who is still wearing a winter hat, and I saw Mrs. Lee turn to her husband and make some remark when I passed them yesterday. By the way, he looked at my hat, I know it was about you."

"Well," said the little woman's husband, thrusting his hands deep into his pockets and assuming a cold, judicial air, "why don't you get out your last summer's hat? Here I'm still wearing my derby, while my last summer's straw is being cleaned; are you any better than I?"

"But—" The little woman bit her lip.

"Here I am," said her husband, "working my head off that you may have the best of homes and the best of clothes, and yet, when you buy the very best things there are, you aren't willing to wear them two seasons! Why, my mother used to get a hat and pay only a couple of dollars for it; then she used to turn the ribbons on it, or put the feathers on the other side or trim it up with a few flowers, and there she had a hat as good as new, year after year, with hardly any expense."

"Those were the days when men could save money! Now, a woman, instead of wearing one hat until it's really worn out, must have two or three in one year! It's sinful extravagance! I won't have my wife lend herself to any such notions, to lead astray the younger women and help them ruin their husbands!"

"You paid $10—just five times as much as my mother used to pay—for that hat of yours, trimmed with a green ribbon," went on the little woman's husband, warming to his theme. "It would be fostering ideas of wastefulness to allow you to purchase another this year."

"I didn't know you were so hard up," murmured the little woman, as she hastily turned away and left him.

The little woman's husband followed her. He felt that he ought to settle this matter once for all.

"Yes," he said, "that is what comes of women's arrogance. My mother was properly attentive when my father spoke to her. She recognized his broader view, and she profited by it. But what do the wives of today do? They assume an attitude of equality, answer impudently to any remark made in a general way and habitually neglect their households."

"But I wish you to understand that, in spite of your forwardness, I don't wish you to suffer for lack of a suitable hat. Mind you, I am not considering the neighbors' attitude. Here's one dollar. You ought to be able to buy quite an array of flowers and ribbons for that. Purchase them and replace the present trimmings of your hat with them, and—your husband will be pleased. That ought to satisfy any wife."

After her husband had gone to the office the little woman looked up her old hat. She sent the donated money to the store and got ten yards of green ribbon, at ten cents a yard. Then she proceeded to refresh the hat.

She put the ribbon on in profusion, intermixed with the flowers and foliage of the past year. Bows stuck out at random on all sides. She wound ribbon around the crown. Then, there still remaining more of it, she sewed a couple of loops underneath.

When this work was finished, she donned the creation and started for her husband's office.

The office boy snickered as she went in. The stenographer tried to keep her eyes off the hat, but failed. The bookkeepers deliberately stared at it. But the little woman, with her role mind, opened the door of the inner office and went in.

"What on earth!" The voice of the little woman's husband was anything but hospitable.

He stood for a minute staring at the hat. The little woman bore the scrutiny without flinching.

"Isn't it nice?" she asked, gently. "I got all this trimming—that is, the ribbon—with the money you gave me."

The man breathed heavily. He watched her closely for a moment, but her face was guileless. Then he reached for an umbrella.

"Here," he said, striving to be calm. "Take this, and leave that—that hat here. I believe you do need another."

The little woman thanked him and departed. When she had gone, he picked up the hat and, stuffing it into the waste paper basket, put his foot on it and crushed the crown through.

The Difference.
A woman who both by hearing and looks could be distinguished as "new woman," entered a street car and with a very haughty air seated herself near an old Italian.

When the conductor came to take up the fares she said to him in a very loud voice:

"Let me off at my husband's bank." The conductor, evidently knowing her, assured her that he would, and passed on to the Italian.

"Let me off at my peanut stand," called out the old fellow, as he paid his fare.

ROMANCE OF RUBBER INDUSTRY RECALLED

London, Aug. 4.—The romance of the origin of the great rubber industry in the Eastern tropics was recalled at a banquet given in connection with the International Rubber Exhibition just concluded at the Agricultural Hall.

Advantage was taken of the occasion to present, on behalf of the Middle Eastern rubber industry, a check for $5,000 the certificate for an annuity to H. A. Wickham, who in 1876 brought from Brazil to Kew Gardens the seeds from which have sprung the vast rubber forests of Ceylon, Malaya, and other places in the East.

The story of Mr. Wickham's adventurous quest was related to a representative of the journal by Norman Grieve, who was one of those mainly responsible for the testimonial given to Mr. Wickham.

"He was commissioned by the India office," said Mr. Grieve, "to introduce the Para rubber from Brazil into Ceylon. The difficulty was how to do it. He went to the Topogaps plateau on the Amazon, a remote locality, seized the opportunity of chartering the steamship Amazonase, which happened to be there, hastily collected, with the aid of Indians, his baskets of seeds in the deep forests, and got them to the coast."

"The next difficulty was to get the seeds on board, for in those days the Brazilian authorities would certainly have confiscated them had they known their nature. Mr. Wickham managed to smuggle them aboard—70,000 rubber seeds, packed in a few crates."

"Time was precious. The seeds would not survive the journey direct to Ceylon so they were taken first to London. They arrived at Kew Gardens during the night and were planted out at once. They were too perishable to risk delay until the morning. Seven thousand rubber plants grew from the seeds, and 1,700 of these were sent in miniature hot-houses to Ceylon. There they grew into large trees—twelve feet in girth—and gave seeds of their own."

Such was the beginning of an industry now responsible for the employment of $250,000,000 capital in the East.

Many a Suffering Woman
Drags herself painfully through her daily tasks, suffering from backache, headache, nervousness, loss of appetite and poor sleep, not knowing her ills are due to kidney and bladder troubles. Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief from pain and misery and a prompt return to health and strength. No woman who so suffers can afford to overlook Foley Kidney Pills. Howard Gardner.

"A man ought to be able to read his title clear."
"He certainly ought if he expects an American girl to pay a million of her papa's dollars for it."—Judge.

Accused of Stealing.
E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Me., boldly accuses Bucklen's Arnica Salve of stealing—the sting from burns or scalds—the pain from sores of all kinds—the distress from boils or piles. "It robs cuts, corns, bruises, sprains and injuries of their terror," he says, "as a healing remedy its equal don't exist." Only 25c at Fariss Klutz Drug Co.

Charity covereth a multitude of people with cast-off garments.

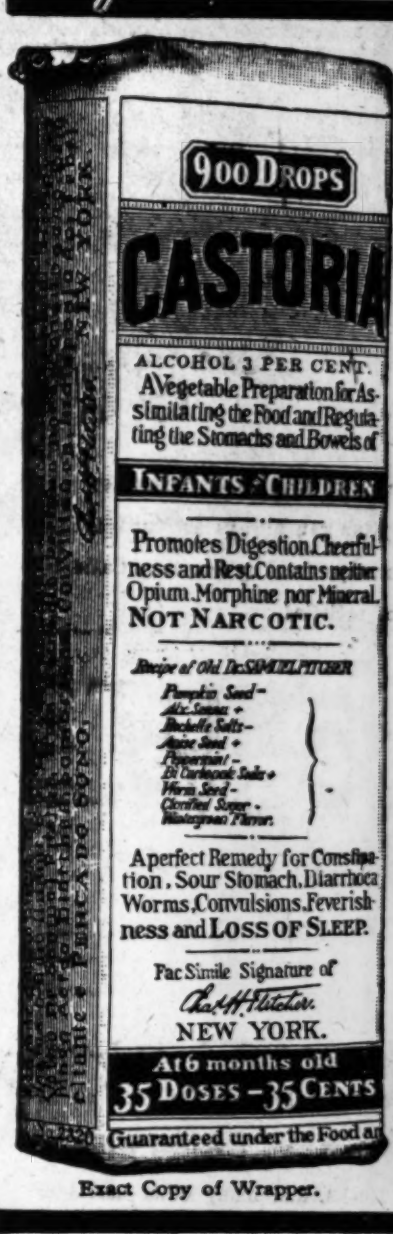

More people, men and women, are suffering from kidney and bladder trouble than ever before, and each year more of them turn for quick relief and permanent benefit to Foley's Kidney Remedy, which has proven itself to be one of the most effective remedies for kidney and bladder ailments that medical science has devised. Howard Gardner.

Steamed Finnan Haddie.
Take a thick, good sized Finnan haddie, steam carefully in steamer until done and the flakes look as if they would separate tenderly. Remove to a hot platter and turn over it a gill of melted butter, to which has been added a half teaspoonful of English mustard, a teaspoonful of Worcester-shire sauce, a few blades of chives and a section of green pepper chopped very fine. Serve garnished with parsley and slices of lemon.

Sardine and Egg Sandwiches.
Rub to a paste one dozen skinned and boned sardines, the yolks of three hard-boiled eggs and the finely cropped whites, add one-half cup of butter beaten to a cream with one teaspoon of mustard, season with pepper and salt, add the juice of one-half a lemon and place between slices of bread.

Chocolate Macaroons.
Whites of three eggs, not beaten, one pound of pulverized sugar, three ounces of melted chocolate, or three tablespoons of cocoa. Work to a smooth paste, rub one-fourth of an inch thick, cut into squares, dust baking pan with equal parts of flour and powdered sugar mixed. Bake in a quick oven.

.LOVING A POOR MAN

By MARGARET WATTS DE PEYSTER

Statistics go to prove that every year men delay marriage for a longer period, and every year the ranks of the spinster women grow larger and larger.

"Marriage is too expensive," young men mutter, if questioned on the subject, and they as well as all the crowds of unwedded fair ones, are prone to pretend that matrimony has very little charm for them.

Perhaps it will astonish the ladies in question to learn that they are themselves greatly to blame for the present unsatisfactory state of things. Every natural girl wishes to marry, whatever she may say on the subject, and young men are every whit as eager for the happiness of home as were their fathers and grandfathers before them; but how dare they propose to damsels who apparently require such riches as does the modern girl.

It is all the foolish result of trying to do as others do. If girls would but be their sweet natural selves, show that they do not fear poverty when they love, then statistics will tell a different tale.

As it is, almost every girl persists in dressing to an extent greatly beyond her means, demanding amusements and diversions by no means warranted by her social scale.

The "Bargain Hunter" Always Has Money

Haven't you noticed the strange coincidence that, although accused of im-providence and extravagance, and of buying things not needed simply because they are cheap, the "BARGAIN HUNTER" seems ALWAYS to HAVE ENOUGH MONEY with which to make all of these extravagant purchases?

It is the woman who is "too busy to read the ads." who is too busy to BUY WISELY! and who can never "afford" to buy even the very best of bargains!

To know WHAT IT OUGHT TO COST—and to SAVE A WORTH-WHILE PORTION of that sum when you buy it, is the PRIVILEGE OF THE AD-READER.

ONE SIMOLEON PRICE OF RIDE TO TWIN CITY

On Baseball Excursion to be Operated Tomorrow Afternoon --Return Also.

One simoleon is all it takes to get a ride from here to Winston-Salem and back tomorrow afternoon. The Greensboro ball club will operate for the convenience of the fans a special train so that all who care to do so can take the ride and also take in the ball game with Winston if they desire to root for the team and see the Doyle-ites "mop up" with the obstreperous Clancy-ites in what promises to be one of the really great games of the season.

The time of the train's leaving depends upon whether or not there is a double-header. If rain prevents the game today there will be a double-header tomorrow in Winston. If such be the case, the train will leave here at one o'clock. This will be an added attraction if two games can be seen for the price of one.

If the teams play today there will be only one game tomorrow, and the train will leave at 2 o'clock.

Returning the train will leave Winston at 8 p. m. and arrive here at nine o'clock.

The team will get the benefit of any profits from the train and it will not go to individuals, so it is up to the fans to go along and help the club. What will help the team more than anything else will be to have from 600 to 1,000 loyal Greensboro folks in the grandstand to cheer them on to victory and to disconcert Swindell, Clancy et al. "All aboard for the Twin City."

ELON COLLEGE NEWS ITEMS

Special to Telegram.

Elon College, Aug. 4.—His many friends will be very glad to know that Prof. Ned. F. Brannock, of the department of Physics and Chemistry, who recently underwent a most serious surgical operation in the St. Leo's Hospital in Greensboro, is improving and, while he is not able yet to sit up, his physicians feel confident that all danger is past and his complete and final recovery is assured.

Mr. Joseph Clendenin, of the hill, who was stricken with paralysis of the elementary canal and digestive system last Thursday, continues very sick at his residence. Relatives and friends have been called to his bedside, and the issue of his ailment is being watched with much concern.

Rev. J. W. Wellons, who is the co-pastor of the church in this place is spending the vacation granted him by his congregation, visiting friends and acquaintances of long standing in Franklin and Wake counties.

Intelligence has reached here with regret that the Rev. P. H. Fleming, D. D., pastor of the First Christian church of Burlington, N. C., and secretary and treasurer of the College Corporation, has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Christian church at Greenville, Ohio. Dr. Fleming's services as secretary and treasurer of the college have been most valuable in the past.

The Vacation Number of the College bulletin appeared on the first of this week and has been mailed to old and prospective students and such friends as desire it. This number contains articles of general interest on educational questions of the day and ought to appeal to young persons who are considering the matter of entering college this fall. A copy of this bulletin may be had by addressing the president.

The prospect for the fall term, despite the drouth and poor crops in many counties, is very bright. The expectation is that the enrollment will represent an increase over that of last year.

Farmers' Institute at Pleasant Garden

Today a Farmers' Institute is being held at Pleasant Garden, this being the last of a series of four institutes held in the county by the State Department of Agriculture. The institute began this morning at 10 o'clock and will continue until late this afternoon. Dinner was served at noon by the ladies attending the institute.

A large number of farmers of the southern part of the county are in attendance and considerable interest is being taken in the addresses and demonstrations.

HEALTH LECTURES AT COUNTY SCHOOLS

Health Superintendent G. Floyd Ross Arranges His Schedule for August.

Dr. G. Floyd Ross, county superintendent of health, has arranged for a number of lectures at various school houses in the county during the month, this being a part of his duties as superintendent. For some time Dr. Ross has been making an inspection of the various school houses in the county, it being required that school shall not begin until the superintendent inspects the premises and sees that they are in a sanitary condition and not detrimental to the health of the school children.

Dr. Ross will give illustrated lectures at all the school houses in the county, the schedule below being for only a portion of the schools. The county board of health has purchased slides to be used with the lectures and they will be quite entertaining as well as helpful.

The subjects discussed will be tuberculosis, typhoid and general sanitation. The object of a department of health for the county is to educate the people so they can keep well instead of having a physician to make them well after they get sick. The lectures will be given each evening at 8 o'clock at the place and time mentioned below:

Bessemer School, August 7.
McLeansville, August 9.
Proximity and White Oak, August 10.

REUNION OF FORMER STUDENTS OF JEFFERSON ACADEMY

McLeansville, Aug. 4.—The former students of Jefferson Academy, together with all of the people, old and young, in the community, will hold a reunion and picnic at McLeansville tomorrow afternoon and evening. The first event of the day will be a baseball game at three o'clock. Following this there will be some acrobatic stunts by former students, both heavyweights and lightweights. A big supper will be served at six o'clock on the grounds. In the evening there will be lots of music, a limited amount of speech-making and an informal reception. Everybody, old and young, and especially old students, prospective students and parents are invited.

Jefferson Academy will be reopened this fall with Mr. Edgar T. Hines, a graduate of Elon College, as principal. Other instructors will be Mr. Elmer L. Daugherty, who was educated at Franklin Military College and Elon College, commandant; Miss Huldah Slaughter, graduate of the State Normal College, instructor in music and Mr. William N. Huff, director of the band. There will also be an instructor in the primary department. The school will open Thursday, September 7.

HEALTH BULLETIN FOR JUNE JUST ISSUED.

The Bulletin of the North Carolina Board of Health for June has been issued. It contains the annual report of the Secretary of the Board for 1910-1911; the report of the assistant secretary for tuberculosis; the report of the State Secretary of Hygiene for 1910-1911—the annual report of the assistant secretary for eradication of hook-worm disease, and an article on quarantine by Dr. Chas. O'H. Laughinghouse.

The various reports form a most interesting review of the work done by the officers of the State Board of Health during the past year, the officials going into details in specifying what has been accomplished, and in indicating work for the future. The issue is a readable one, and going to 20,000 homes in North Carolina, the people will learn of the value of the work done.

High Point Car Line.

From present indications with the progress of the Public Service Co. on the car line, the cars will be running on the new line on English street before October 1, or in just two thirds of the time provided in the agreement. At present 50 men and teams are at work on the streets and the force will be increased.—High Point Enterprise.

ANTS HELP IN FLY CRUSADE.

Baltimore Man Makes Discovery At Towson.

Baltimore, Aug. 4.—Ants are ably assisting the new-style fly traps in Towson in getting rid of the pestiferous fly. Mr. Charles E. Fendall yesterday made a number of these accommodating ants captive and will keep them for the purpose of helping in the anti-fly campaign.

Mr. Fendall bought two traps. One he put in his office at the Courthouse, where he is equity clerk, and the other he took to his home. As there were many flies on the screen of the door leading from the porch, he put the trap on the porch. The one at the office did good business and was soon full of flies. When he returned home he looked at the trap on the porch, and, to his surprise, there seemed at first glance to be nothing in it. Investigation showed, however, that there were hundreds of dead flies and parts of others in the trap. Further investigation disclosed that a swarm of ants was busily engaged devouring the flies.

This gave Mr. Fendall an idea. If the ants' appetites hold out the necessity of scalding the captive flies will be obviated, so he will make the experiment of keeping the ants on the job.
